Family Night Adventures!

Ahoy Matey!

Welcome to Pete and the Pirates Family Night Adventure! You've received this as a free gift, from our family to yours, through the Championsers! Emotional Safety Education Grant.

Championsers! is an anti-bullying, campus culture development system for your child's school. It's AWESOME but its true superpower is how it helps to eradicate the root causes behind critical youth issues, such as bullying, suicide and addictions—before they start! Its second superpower is helping to create happy, healthy homes through its Family Night Adventure resources.

You are the most impactful teacher your child will ever have, so we put you in the driver's seat with these wonderful family resources based on universal values common to everyone. Things like: kindness, honesty, and self-esteem. You take them from here and discuss them with your children through your own unique family values and belief systems.

It's your family, your way; make it the best family ever!

If your school does not have the Championsers! ESE System tell them about the $50,000 training and resource grants to develop a happy, healthy campus for your child to thrive in!

Pirates Family Night Adventure Agenda

Prep Fun: Operation Pirate Party

Start Here: Ships Ahoy

Lesson: The Treasure in Me

Dinner: Pirate's Feast

Game: Hide & Seek

Activity: Treasures

Before the Adventure Begins

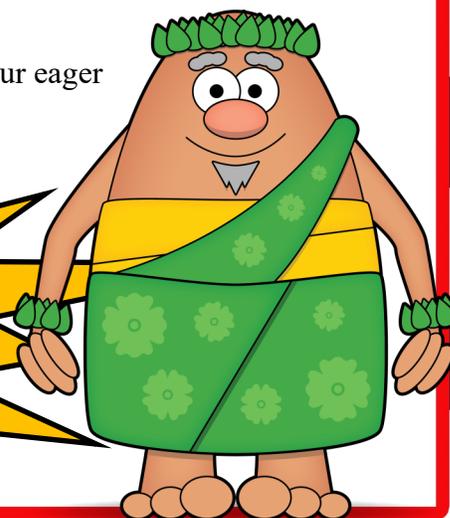

Children LOVE anticipation and will match your excitement so make a really big deal out of Family Night and an even bigger deal out of preparing for it. Children learn by “feeling” so expressing your excitement tells your children how valued they are. Talk about it for days before it happens. Make a count down calendar. Tape announcements on the doors or bathroom mirrors. Place an invitation on their pillows and pull your children into the adventure by giving them jobs. All these things provide the feelings of significance, belonging, leadership and ownership. The important thing is to have as much fun preparing as you do during Family Night!

Preparation

- ◆ Play pirate music in the background to build the atmosphere and excitement. You can find pirate play lists on YouTube or your favorite online music sources.
- ◆ Candles always add to a cozy environment. Use a candelabra or decorative sea lanterns if you have them to create the feeling of a candle-lit ship.
- ◆ Prep for dinner or if you prefer to make dinner as part of your official family night activities have all the ingredients gathered.
- ◆ Decorate. At a minimum set a “Pirate” themed table for the Pirate Feast to take place.
- ◆ Set out the ingredients for your family’s favorite “gathering” beverage such as hot cocoa, specialty coffee for adults or one of the recipes provided.
- ◆ Set out items needed for the game and activity so everything is ready in advance.
- ◆ Gather all cell phones in a basket, to be turned off until the end of your Family Night Adventure.
- ◆ Have tons of fun while you are preparing and build into it your eager anticipation for your family’s special night!!!

COPY & DISPLAY

Print out the agenda map for an at-a-glance guide for your Family Night Adventure. Display so your children know what to expect and what’s coming up next.

Start Here: Ships Ahoy

Kids thrive when they have structured schedules with surprises built into them. Print off the Pirate Family Night Treasure Map and place it somewhere visible so your children know what to expect next.

Gathering the Crew

- ◆ Set a 25-minute pre-start timer during prep time so your children can transition from an energy burning activity, such as prep, to a quieter activity in your gathering place.
- ◆ Call the crew once and play an official Family Night theme song (or just crank the pirate song that's playing). Just like musical chairs, children will see this as a game to have their FNA (Family Night Adventure) beverage in hand and be in their place before the song ends. No need to stress over children who are not coming or ready when called... let the music do the work for you.
- ◆ Choose a FNA gathering place. By a fireplace is awesome if you have one, candles work, neither are necessary as long as you establish that this is your family's very special time together. To help make a really big deal out of the official start, you can all raise your mug and participate in a unified celebratory sip (toast) with the announcement, "Family Night has officially begun!" all answer "Here, here" as you toast the air together.

- ◆ If your children wore costumes, now is a perfect time to acknowledge the efforts of each fine pirate in the room, even taking a family picture right off the bat while everyone is most focused and attentive.

- ◆ This is the space to acknowledge accomplishments and make announcements for the week. Always praise your children for the prep efforts made for Family Night and publicly acknowledge all who are gathered in some way. If you are doing the leadership challenges at home, this is award time! No criticism, correction, or sarcasm are allowed in this space... just praise and gratitude. You might have to dig deep to find a compliment for little Johnny if he's had a particularly challenging week or day, but you'll find something praiseworthy, then make a crazy big deal out of it no matter how small.

- ◆ When everyone is has finished (or mostly finished) their gathering beverage it's time for your lesson.

Lesson - The Treasure in Me

- ◆ The Treasure in Me is the motto for the Champions! Pete and the Pirates unit. Children who develop a strong sense of self-worth are far less likely to follow the crowd. The goal of this unit is to help children discover the hidden gold inside of them as well as to look for it in others.
- ◆ Champions! lessons are designed for you to be in the drivers seat as you discuss them with your family through your unique values and belief systems. Your children are exposed to many different view points at their school and may have questions on the differences. This is the perfect time to share why your family believes as you do while honoring others who see things differently. It's not the differences that divide a culture, it's when we forget how much more we have in common and the incredible value of each and every individual regardless of our differences.
- ◆ Print out the work sheet on the following page. You can write out your answers and then discuss them, or just take turns sharing. Here are some sharing rules:
 1. No judgements or criticisms.
 2. Ask open ended questions that require more than a yes or no answer to get your children thinking about why they feel the way they do.
 3. Allow everyone to share equally.
 4. There are no right or wrong answers when it comes to sharing feelings. Feelings just are what they are, but even the hardest questions and topics brought up during sharing time provide insights into your amazing family and an opportunity to build trust and communication. Note: children who learn they can share with you during fun family times are more likely to share when real-life issues come up, so this is an absolutely priceless platform to build with honor and safety.

LESSON

The Treasure in You

People place value in different kinds of treasures. Some people treasure money and houses. Others value fancy clothes and lots of toys. These are indeed fun to have, but there is a simple truth about “surface” treasures. Although they are fun, and can make you happy for a little while, they can’t make you truly happy in the long-run. That requires a different kind of treasure.

Only TRUE TREASURES can make you TRULY HAPPY.

So what is a true treasure?

True treasures are things you can’t buy, yet they are priceless. They are your family, friends, and pets. There are also other priceless treasures you can’t see that are inside of you. They are things like hope, peace, joy, your unique special talents and your dreams.

I call these great hidden qualities and talents the “Gold” inside of people. Sometimes you have to find the gold and bring it out in each other. We do this by encouraging each other with our words and honoring each other with our actions. We also do this by developing a culture of honor that values the true treasures inside each of us.

Hey thar Matey!

Fill in the blanks to discover your true treasures! You might want to also share your talents and strengths because they are part of the treasure in you!

Game: Hide & Seek

Shiver me' timbers. Nothing is more fun than a great game of Hide & Seek—except Hide & Seek in the house! This is especially fun with flashlights. Be sure to team up your little guys with an older family member and have a blast hiding under the bed, in closets, and behind the over-stuffed couch. Before you start establish the Olly-Olly-Oxen-Free signal for everyone to come out of hiding if they hear it. Also establish all your safety rules, such as climbing up furniture or covering your head with any items.

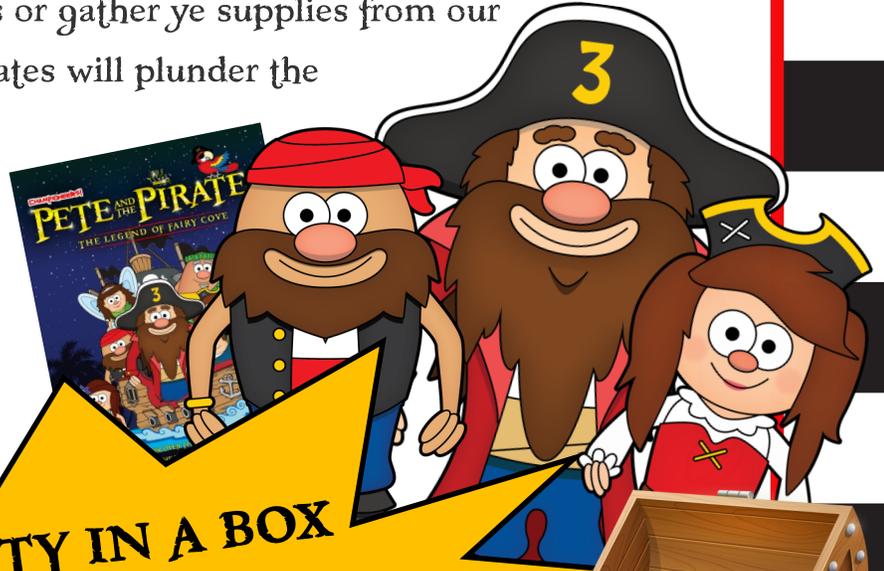

Activity: Treasures

If you have time to pre-plan, make an actual treasure hunt for your children, complete with prizes. Simple riddles can lead your children from clue to clue. An option is to create a treasure map, tear it into at least the same number of pieces as you have family members and hide all the pieces for your children to find. When the map is fit together it reveals a special prize for all to enjoy.
