This clever dramatic presentation explores the age-old internal struggle with one's inner sense of value, how our perception is often defined by our environment and how easily it can alter our gauge for right and wrong. Al-x is a self-conscious teenager of the prehistoric 50's who wrestles to find what truly defines a caveman in light of how everyone else defines their worth. Helped by his own reflection, and the unknowing wisdom of an old fishing soul, Alex finds the courage to find himself before his fate is sealed. This is one fish tale that will change your life as much as the ones who lived it!
